Discover Winter Birds of the Md., Delaware Coast

Winter can be a wonderful time for bird watching. On Friday, January 25, 2008 join other birding enthusiasts as they travel to nearby coastal areas for a day of unique, if somewhat frosty observation of birds.

Discover winter birds of the coast. Visit the Maryland and Delaware coastline in search of winter waterfowl, shorebirds and raptors. The day may include streams of snow geese descending on the marsh. The trip leaves from Riverbend Park in Great Falls at 8 a.m. and concludes with site drop-off at 8 p.m. Dress for cold and windy weather. Bring binoculars or spotting scopes and a bag lunch. Reservations are required by January 17th and the cost per person is $34. This program is appropriate for adults.

For reservations and further information call 703-759-9018.
